I am working on the chapter on Motion, which I understand very well. I am also learning to use graph paper. The most difficult chapter for me was Acids, Bases and Salts because I had to memorise the formulae and types of reactions. But when I was studying this chapter, I found it challenging to remember the formulae and reactions. I am able to concentrate in class for a longer time, but still, I need to focus more because this is my favourite subject. I love doing science class with my science teacher.

However, my test scores for the Construction, Polygons, and Triangles and Quadrilaterals chapters were not as good because I scored less than 15 out of 25.
