INTRODUCTION

Santosh is a cheerful and tidy little boy who always wears a bright smile. He maintains cleanliness in the class. He is a bit shy and soft-spoken but shows good concentration in the class. His favourite colour is green.

CHANTING AND SINGING

During circle time, Santosh mumbles the chants and words and is generally hesitant to sing. He often stands still and doesn't speak, but when he's in the mood, he talks, although he mostly imitates others. He has learned some chants and songs related to vegetables and flowers and is currently learning a song about fruits.

MATHEMATICS

In mathematics, Santosh is learning to count from one to ten but only knows numbers one, two, and three. He is also learning the names of different colours but can sometimes be confused. He enjoys playing with the objects used for math activities and is slowly becoming less shy during math lessons.

PROJECTS

For his project, Santosh chose the topic of vegetables. He had the opportunity to see, taste, and create puppet representations of various vegetables. He also sang songs about vegetables and shared related stories. He can now recognize different vegetables, including potato and tomato. He is currently focusing on a new project about fruits, learning their names, and tasting fruits like mango, apple, banana, and custard apple. He has also tried his hand at clay modelling, creating models of fruits, and making fruit puppets.

CELEBRATIONS AND FESTIVALS

Despite his shyness, Santosh participates in school celebrations. He has performed in the drama "Chinchi Chidia" on 5th July, the "Mera Kanheiya" dance on Janmashtami, and took part in activities like tying rakhi on Raksha Bandhan and singing songs on festivals such as Ganesh Chaturthi and Independence Day.
