ENGLISH

In my English class, I engage in various activities. I attend English class every day at 1:30. I enjoy reading books during the class. Sometimes, we write riddles about vegetables, animals, and more.

During our group reading sessions, didi gives us dictation exercises. I occasionally make spelling errors in dictation. We also work on exercise books. The book we study from is "Patal," which is for the fourth standard. It contains many stories that I like a lot. Some of the stories are very interesting, and I particularly enjoyed "The Witches."

We work on the textbook exercises twice a week. I usually complete my book work without seeking didi's help. I also learn grammar from the book. When I come across words I don't understand, I ask didi for help. I listen carefully when didi explains the meanings of these words, and it helps me improve my English-speaking skills.

In our English class, didi teaches us poems such as "Who," "A Tree," and more. We also watch movies like "Red Shoe," "A Little Princess," "Two Brothers," "Free Willy," and others.

When didi assigns homework, I make sure to complete it before coming to class. Sometimes, didi teaches us songs for festivals, and I enjoy learning them. We also learn dialogues for festivals in our English class.

However, her enthusiasm and cheerful nature are noteworthy. She finishes her assignments promptly and enjoys using watercolours. Sandhya created a vibrant watercolour painting of Lord Ganesh. She readily seeks assistance when encountering challenges and has a strong desire to learn.

DANCE

I have a strong affinity for dancing. In our dance class, we focus on learning various dance steps, and I find it relatively easy to grasp them. I particularly enjoy learning classical dance because it comes naturally to me.

Our class has covered several dance routines, including "Aer-Samandar," "Jai Ho," and more. Every Monday, we dedicate time to learning new dances, and our sessions typically begin at 2:30 PM. I'm enthusiastic about learning as many dances as our didis teach us.

I put my best effort into every dance practice. On Tuesdays, as part of our activities, we have dedicated dance classes. One notable dance we learned was "Namasta Gananathaya," which we were preparing for Ganesh Pooja. While it was initially challenging, we persevered through practice and eventually mastered it.

Before diving into dance routines, we start with warm-up exercises to prevent overheating. These exercises are vital to ensure our bodies are ready for the physical demands of dancing. Additionally, we've learned about mudras, such as single and double hand gestures, which I find quite enjoyable.

I'm committed to maintaining focus during dance class and make an effort not to disturb our didi. Thankfully, I haven't received any punishments for disrupting the class.

MUSIC

Sandhya is dedicated to giving her best in the music class and enjoys overcoming challenges with a positive attitude. She remains focused even when tackling difficult exercises, resisting distractions from other students. She plays all seven notes in tune at a slow speed, with rhythmic accuracy.

Although she enjoys playing all the games in her group, basketball is her favourite, as she enjoys shooting the ball into the basket. SHRAMDAAN

Sandhya is always punctual, whether it's hostel cleaning, school cleaning, or gardening. She consistently performs her tasks with care and caution, striving to give her best in whatever work she's assigned. Sandhya never complains about her responsibilities, but she particularly enjoys hostel cleaning.
