Introduction

Sansiddha is a regular child. He is a straightforward boy. He is like a little bunny. When he reaches school, he greets his didi and bhaiya with a good morning. Sometimes he talks like a matured child. He arrives on time at school. He brushes his teeth at school. He comes with neat and clean clothes. He likes to eat all the food cooked in the school hostel. He takes his time to finish his food. He sits nicely and chews all the food in his mouth. His best friend is Nitesh.

Circle Time

During circle time, he sits nicely with crossed legs and closed eyes and chants all the chants loudly and clearly. He learns new chants and songs very quickly. He likes to sing animal songs with actions. His pronunciation is clear. His favourite song is "ek dadi ne boya beej." He sings the song confidently in the group and assembly.

Languages

Hindi

He likes to do drawing and create his own story. He tells his story in full sentences, about 7 to 8 lines of his own thinking. He also likes to listen to stories by showing the picture books and puppets. After listening to the full story, he can understand and answer questions. He can retell the story with a picture book sequence. In the "myself" topic, he learned to introduce himself in full sentences. He made a book about himself, his favourite fruit, vegetable, and what he likes to do. He wrote 5 to 6 lines about himself. He presented his book in a unity group. In the "body parts" topic, he drew and painted his body parts and explained 2-3 lines about how they help us. In the "my family" topic, he learned about the relationships of family members. He drew his family members and talked about 5 to 6 lines.

English

Mathematics

Sansiddha enjoys playing and learning math with different objects and in nature. He learned the pre-number concept with different objects and sorted and matched to learn about colours, lengths, weights, shapes, and sizes. He collected different items from nature, created patterns, and learned to count with small numbers. He can make repeating patterns using rangometri with the same colour and size by following diya. Through seriation, he can arrange objects in increasing and decreasing order. He became familiar with numbers by using objects and started counting with a ganitmala. He can count properly from 1 to 100 in ganitmala, even doing backward counting up to 100. He can identify numbers up to 100 on the ganitmala and perform skip counting by 2 and break numbers down into tens. He can also do small additions with one-digit numbers through storytelling.

Skill work

He has a preference for drawing in art class, particularly garden scenes. She ensures that her colouring does not dirty the paper and maintains a clean work environment. In paper folding, she enjoys making airplanes but occasionally needs help from teachers.

Celebrations

Sansiddha enjoys drama and has a sweet voice. He quickly remembers his part. He also enjoys dancing and learns the steps quickly. On July 5th, he performed in a drama about body parts. On August 15th, he danced to the song "Sri Aurobindo Name Anando." On August 30th, he made a rakhi with beads and thread and celebrated Raksha Bandhan at school. On September 7th, he celebrated Janmashtami and danced to the song "Adharam Madhuram."
