Introduction

Pari, seven years old, attends school daily, although she occasionally takes holidays. She always comes to school neatly and maintains a friendly relationship with all the children in her group as well as her teachers. Pari has a passion for dancing and loves playing with her friends after lunch. Her favourite meal is poha, and although she sometimes drops food while eating, she is still amiable and outgoing.

Projects

1. My Family: Pari learned the names of her family members and engaged in creating pictures of her family to construct a family tree. She was able to place her family members on the tree but did not show a strong interest in learning songs. Pari might take more time to grasp concepts but demonstrates attentiveness and willingness to understand.

2. My Body Parts: In this topic, Pari drew pictures of various body parts. While she had some difficulty answering questions about body parts, she was attentive in class and listened carefully to both teachers and her peers. Pari expressed interest in learning the body parts song, although pronunciation presented some challenges.

3. Shapes: Pari actively participated in shape-related activities, creating drawings and showing interest in shape-related songs. She recognized some shape names and their properties.
4. Vegetables: Pari created drawings of different vegetables. She has learned the names of several vegetables in English. Her fluency in discussing ivy gourd in Hindi is commendable. She also participated in an outdoor activity where she viewed vegetables in a garden and answered questions. Unfortunately, due to an absence, she missed the clay work related to this topic.

Pari's project report reflects her learning journey in various subjects. While she may require more time to grasp certain concepts and might encounter pronunciation challenges, her attentiveness, willingness to learn, and fluency in discussing topics like vegetables in Hindi demonstrate her potential and interest in the subjects.

English

Pari is a quiet student who enjoys singing and learning new songs. She has made progress in understanding English and tries to speak in phrases. She listens attentively during storytime but may have some difficulty comprehending. In "The Mice Wedding" drama, she had the role of the narrator and delivered her lines confidently.

Hindi

Pari is an adorable girl who makes a sincere effort to concentrate in class. She enjoys listening to stories and can answer questions when prompted. She encounters challenges with certain word pronunciations and could benefit from improvement in her speaking abilities. Pari has demonstrated an aptitude for listening to Hindi stories and attempting to answer questions afterward. She has successfully memorized the names of shapes in Hindi and has also learned and recognized the Hindi alphabets taught to her. The Hindi songs she has learned include "Jo Bhi Kam Karo Tum Bacho," "Ganesh Vandana," "Hum Gaye Ek," and "Bade Savere Bulbul Aati."

Maths

Pari actively engages with mathematics, displaying a conscientious effort to comprehend mathematical concepts. Over the last six months, she has learned to count forward and backward from 1 to 100 without the need for objects, although she may require a little assistance in backward counting. While she occasionally experiences confusion with numbers after and before, she attempts to provide correct answers up to number 20. She has a strong understanding of numbers such as 15, 50, 13, and 30 and can represent them using stick bundles. She can effectively use phrases like "10 and 5 is fifteen" and "5 tens and 0 ones make the number 50." Pari can also distinguish between big and small numbers and understands the concept of breaking numbers into tens and ones. She can perform single-digit additions without objects but relies on objects as numbers become larger, for example, in calculations like 9 + 6 and 8 + 9. She is competent in skip counting by twos and threes but may struggle without objects when counting up to 100. Pari's learning was impacted due to substantial absences during this period.

Arts

Pari demonstrates a strong affinity for drawing. She meticulously colours her drawings, continuously striving to improve her skills. While she may occasionally seek assistance with paper folding, her favourite colours, orange and blue, reflect her vibrant personality.

Puzzles

Pari possesses a genuine interest in puzzles. She typically enjoys working in groups, particularly with four or three partners, but occasionally tackles puzzles solo, with piece counts ranging from 50 to 90. Pari effectively maintains her focus and typically uses the provided picture as a reference while solving puzzles.

Dance

Pari prefers dancing with her friends and is somewhat shy about dancing alone. She learned "Vrindavan Mein Gopi Aaye" and performed it during Janmashtami, although she takes time to learn dance steps. She likes dancing to Pahadi songs.

Games

Pari is usually quiet during class, but when angered, she may have conflicts with other children. She enjoys the games but sometimes arrives slightly late due to coming from home.
