Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

ENGLISH

In my English class, I do book work, free reading, watch movies, and participate in group reading. Currently, I am studying in the third class for both book work and grammar. Our English class lasts for one hour.

In free reading, I read slowly, and in group reading, I sometimes read, and sometimes didi reads. I enjoy doing grammar because it helps us speak properly and write correctly. Most of the time, I prefer free reading. I have finished reading "The Witches," "The Magic Finger," and "BFG" during group reading. Now, I am reading "George's Marvellous Medicine." My favourite storybook is "The Twits," which I find very funny.

On July 5th, we practiced dialogues, but I was feeling lazy to practice. The drama we performed was about freedom movements. Sometimes I learn poems like "Who" and "A Tree." Various didis come to teach me, and they sometimes give me homework.

I usually arrive on time for class, but a couple of times, I have been late. When I struggle to understand something during reading, I am afraid to ask for help. In class, I don't answer questions, but outside, I talk a lot and don't listen to the didis. I tend to forget to speak in English.

Despite that, I enjoy singing songs in my English class. We also learn songs and dramas in our English class.

HINDI

She likes to do grammar from the book from the books and likes to solve the questions. I am doing the 3rd chapter from the grammar book. She is also doing the gunjan 5th book. She does all the questions and gets her notebook checked. She reads the book badhte kadam along with her friends in the group reading. She also does the free reading once in a weak and she likes to read the small moral stories. She loves to do free reading because she has her on own choice to choose her book and read. She can understand the stories very well. On 5th july she performed a play Andher Nagri in hindi. She was given the role of a guard. While practising in the class room she was not doing properly but on the final day she performed it very nicely. She was nervous while performing the play. She also did acrobat on the song Sandeshe aate hain. She was enjoying very much while practising in the class room. For Rakshabandhan she learnt a song Dhaagon ka ye rishta and she also wrote a poem. She learnt the song very fast and she wrote a beautifull poem Pavitra Rishta.

MATHS

Sabita possesses a strong affection for mathematics and demonstrates a rapid understanding of concepts when presented concisely. She successfully completed the 4th-grade book and is presently engaged with the 5th-grade mathematics book. While she easily grasped initial concepts from the book, she faces challenges in multiplication and division among the four operations involving fractions. Additionally, she finds the concept of measurement somewhat challenging and would benefit from additional practice. Sabita excels in comprehending word problems related to the four basic operations and can solve them independently.

SCIENCE

Sabita is very charming and humble. She scores well in tests and has a good understanding of the subject. Her work is always satisfying and very neat. She has covered many topics like "The Right Clothes to Wear," "Safety First," "The Earth and Its Neighbour," "Force, Work, and Energy, and more. Her favourite topic is "The Earth and Its Neighbour" because she learned not only about Earth but also about the hottest planet, the twin planet, and a gigantic planet much bigger than Earth. She also learned about what keeps the Earth and other planets in orbit. In the early classes, she had difficulties remembering the names and order of the planets, but she has made significant progress and can now draw beautifully labelled figures of all the planets. She is very possessive, which makes her very good in class interaction and discussions. She is very interactive during discussions, which has helped her a lot in understanding the concepts.

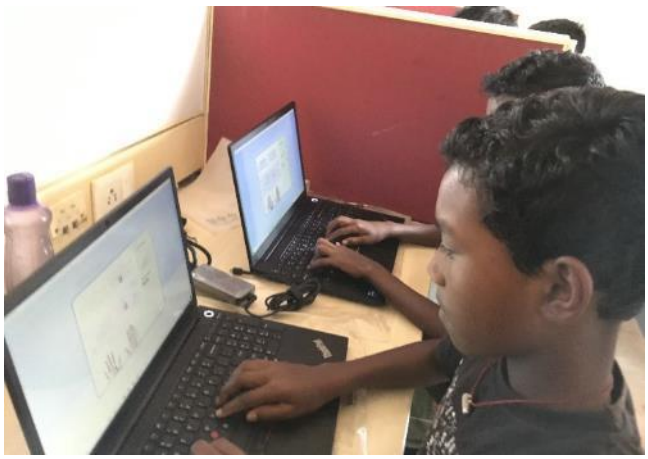
SOCIAL SCIENCE

Sabita is a quiet student currently studying the history of the sixth class after completing civics with question answers and tests. In the civics whole book test, she scored fifteen and a half out of fifty-five. She emphasizes neat handwriting and asks questions to clarify doubts during question-answer sessions. While she rarely speaks in the class when not prompted, she works diligently to secure good marks in tests, displaying a particular interest in history.

ODIA

Sabita deserves congratulations for her improved ability to read and write in the class. Her verbal expression is commendable, and she is currently reading the class 1 book. She has a special interest in listening to stories.



COMPUTER

ARTS

Sabita has a strong affinity for art class, believing that her knowledge greatly benefits her work. She has engaged in a variety of artistic activities, including creating hanging patterns, drawing flowers, and various other forms of art. Drawing, in particular, is her passion, and she enjoys creating baby drawings. Sabita firmly believes that art enhances her understanding and helps her perform well in all her classes and activities. She is diligent and attentive, eagerly absorbing all instructions. Her preferred subjects for drawing are often related to nature, and she especially relishes creating baby drawings. Sabita has also experimented with shading and aspires to focus exclusively on shape drawing. While she may not attempt complex drawings, her work is consistently neat and well-executed.

DANCE

I enjoy my dance classes, where I learn various dance forms. Odissi dance is one of my favourites, and I particularly enjoy practicing hand movements as they are a lot of fun. Dance class is something I look forward to, and it helps me improve my flexibility. I have the privilege of being taught by more than two didis, who teach me hand movements for fun, as well as dances like Odissi and Bharatnatyam.

Bharatnatyam is a dance style that I find quite enjoyable. I practise various dance forms, including Kathak, Odissi, and folk dance. Whenever I struggle with a particular step, I'm not afraid to ask the didis for guidance. On Tuesday mornings, I engage in my dance class, and I especially love Odissi dance for its flexibility benefits and the ability to sit in a half-chair pose.

I attend dance class with didis on Mondays and with a teacher on Tuesdays. Whenever there's a festival and didi offers dance as an option, I gladly choose it. My dance class is from 2:30 pm to 3:30 pm. Even though I may sometimes feel lazy before the class, I'm always energized and motivated when I start dancing. On Tuesdays, I also practice mudras with the didis.

MUSIC

Sabita consistently follows classroom rules, arrives on time, and maintains focus while playing the flute. She treats her instrument with care

SHRAMDAAN

Sabita prefers cleaning the school classrooms as she believes in the importance of a clean learning environment. She takes great care in her work, setting an example for younger students and always lends a helping hand to others.

CELEBRATIONS

20th June Rath Yatra

I enjoyed myself very much on this special day thoroughly. I danced to my heart's fill with my friends, and it was really a memorable day for me. I enjoyed eating the Prasad that was being distributed by our priests. It was and respect, playing all seven notes without assistance. However, she requests notations to be repeated for extra practice.

GAMES

Sabita is always punctual during games period and obediently follows the teacher's instructions without grudges. She believes that the teacher's guidance is for their own benefit, whether it's running up the hill or doing ten rounds of the football ground. She puts in her best efforts in whatever she participates in and likes playing basketball, aspiring to be like the older students.

also distributed amongst the villagers who had come to witness our celebration.

5th July School's birthday

I was nervous when my scene was going on, but I still said my dialogues very well. We also performed another Odia drama related to Lord Jagannath, which we had been unable to perform on Rath Yatra.

15th August Independence Day

On this day, I performed my role as a soldier of the famous Queen Laxmibai. I was very excited to fight the British with the queen and did my part really well.

30th August Raksha Bandhan

On this day, I tied Rakhi to Akash, who was very glad to be my partner. He also tied Rakhi to me, and we both hugged each other.

7th September Janmashtami

On this day, we sang a song together as an offering to Lord Krishna. I was singing confidently, as my friends were there with me on the stage.

19th September Ganesh Chaturthi

I was standing in the front row of our group and was really feeling nervous on seeing the audience. But when the music began, I started dancing and enjoyed myself thoroughly. I enjoyed the other dances performed by the other children.
