Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Maths

Raila is studying the 3rd-grade book and is highly intelligent. She excels in 3-digit multiplication and other topics but faces some challenges in division and converting units. She has difficulty with converting measurements but is confident in other areas of mathematics.

Projects

Birds

Raila deeply fascinated by birds, was keen to learn about various species and their habitat. Bird-watching outings introduced her to a multitude of local bird species, and she actively engaged in recognizing birds by their calls. Despite occasional delays in her responses, Royla actively participated in class, seeking answers to questions and deepening her understanding of bird categories, habitat, and food habits. Her book, which featured bird drawings and descriptions, illustrated her dedication to the topic. Bird documentaries enriched her knowledge further, providing a more comprehensive understanding of birds' behaviours, prey, and habitats.

Occupation

Raila wants to become a doctor when she grows up because she wants to help all the people in the village and protect them. In the class she tries to pay her full attention and listen to the teachers and tries to understand. She wrote a few lines about a doctor and did a role play on it. She made a beautiful drawing of a doctor.

Hindi

Raila pays more attention in Hindi class and participates sincerely. She reads well and enjoys Panchatantra books but finds reading thick books challenging due to difficult words. She asks questions when she doesn't understand and has improved her handwriting and reading.

English

Raila is a diligent and well-behaved student, displaying exceptional punctuality and regular attendance in her English class. She exhibits a genuine enthusiasm for participating in English class, albeit she mostly converses in Hindi. When encouraged by the teacher, Raila readily attempts to communicate in English, although her pronunciation remains a work in progress.

Raila endeavours to articulate words clearly and accurately, even if she cannot always construct complete sentences. During class, she maintains good posture and attentiveness. While listening to stories, her focus is generally on point, although she occasionally becomes distracted by her friends, engaging in playful interactions with them.

Notably, Raila has made significant strides in her reading abilities, demonstrating improvement in her ability to read storybooks. She can now read storybooks at a 3rd-grade level, including titles such as "Beauty and the Beast" and "The Wizard of Oz." Following storybook reading, Raila is provided with dictation exercises. In this context, she correctly spells some words while making errors with others. Nevertheless, she diligently corrects her mistakes and writes all the misspelled words five times to reinforce her spelling skills. Her handwriting has also seen substantial improvement, as she writes more neatly and legibly than before.

Raila's commitment to enhancing her English skills is evident in her continued progress.

Raila is a quiet and innocent girl who does not argue or fight with others. While her pronunciation is not perfect, she sings beautifully with a melodious voice. She enjoys watching English movies, even though she sometimes finds them challenging to understand. Royala is shy when it comes to participating in plays and should aim to build confidence within the group.

Odia

Raila knows all the alphabets properly and is also able to write them. She understands the language quite a bit and is able to speak a few sentences using a few words. In the class she takes keen interest in learning new words. She has learnt the names of the months and remembers some of them properly. She loves listening to stories.

Arts and Crafts

Raila loves to do art. She likes to draw birds and do different kinds of painting. She likes to make different kind of designs with different colours which look very beautiful. She draws very beautifully. She is very attentive in the class, and she always concentrates. Her drawings are neat and clean. She also likes to do shading, paper folding and nature drawing.

Puzzles

Raila is competent at solving 60, 70, 80, and 100-piece puzzles. Her preference is for 70 and 80-piece puzzles, which she can complete swiftly. However, she requires help when tackling 100-piece puzzles. Raila finds delight in the puzzle images and generally maintains her concentration.

Games and Sports

Raila loves playing all the games. She does running and exercises properly. She plays football, base kickball and other fun games. Her favourite game is football.
