

Chandrika Muduli

DOB-27th December'12

Report for 2023-24 (Second Term)

Mathematics- Chandrika is doing class 5 book of New Enjoying Mathematics. She started the book on 7th December. She has completed 4 chapters namely Place Value, Addition, Subtraction and their applications, Multiplication, Division and their applications. She is currently doing Fractions. She is quite clear in the place and face value of the numbers but takes time to tell and read the numbers till Crores. She needs clarity in some concepts like Rounding of numbers, Roman Numerals and International System from the first chapter. She is able to do calculation of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. But when it comes to word problems of these four operations, she finds it difficult to read and understand them. She takes time to understand them even when explained but solves them once she feels a bit confident. She needs improvement in her language and calculation speed.

Projects- Curious to learn and attentive during class, Chandrika is quite an interesting girl. She doesn't talk much, but she is interested during class. When she is in class, she is very quiet, and sometimes when the teachers ask questions, she is not able to answer them and remains quiet. She made a model of a cycle with her friends and created drawings of different types of cycles. She is quite an artist and draws nice pictures. She was able to name most of the parts of the cycle.

Chandrika demonstrated a strong interest in the project on time, as evidenced by her inquisitive nature and the multitude of questions she raised to deepen her understanding. She sought clarification on fundamental concepts such as the nature of time and the mechanics of its operation, as well as delving into the history of clock invention.

During group discussions, Chandrika made efforts to actively participate, although she could benefit from further development in her communication skills. While she displayed some nervousness when responding to questions, she persisted in attempting to provide answers, showcasing her determination to engage with the material.

Chandrika's enjoyment of hands-on activities, such as constructing models of sand clocks, underscored her enthusiasm for the project. She demonstrated an ability to concentrate when engaged in topics of interest, while also displaying the capacity to remain composed and attentive during quieter moments in the class.. Chandrika exhibits a penchant for neatness and precision in her work. She enthusiastically engaged in learning about various types of flowers and their parts, enjoying first-hand experiences in the garden and even conversing with the flowers. Her creativity shone through as she beautifully illustrated her favourite flower, demonstrating both artistic skill and attention to detail.

Chandrika's understanding of the functions of flower parts was commendable, and she found the process of making flower juice to be both exciting and intriguing.

English- Chandrika's energetic presence in class is matched by her commendable posture and effective reading skills. While she requires occasional assistance with pronunciation, particularly for certain words, she demonstrates proficiency in grammar tasks and maintains consistent completion of homework. Having progressed from the first grammar book to the second, her portrayal of the brother in the play "In Search of Riches" showcases her versatility and commitment to performance.

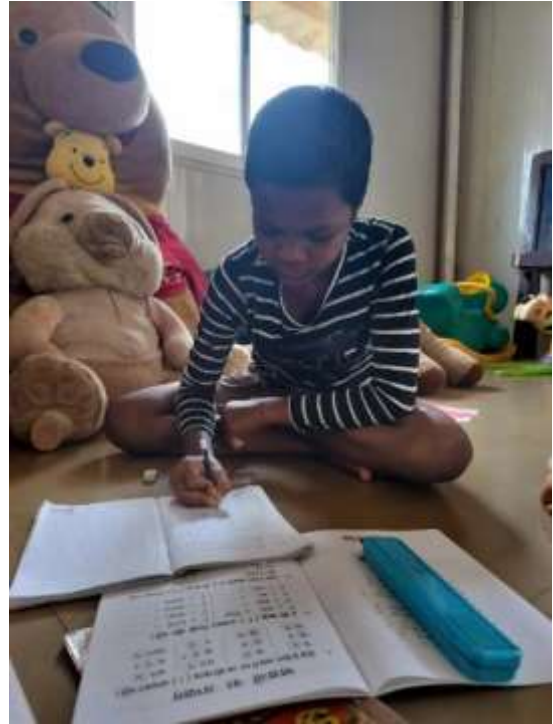

Hindi- Chandrika demonstrates remarkable obedience and diligence. Her reading speed has notably increased, and she now engages attentively in class activities. Additionally, her handwriting has shown significant improvement. Completing the "Abhyaas Pustika" and "Gyan Sarover" books effortlessly, she has progressed to the 3rd-grade material in "Gunjan."

Chandrika actively participates in class discussions, seeks clarification when needed, and diligently reviews her work. She has a penchant for Hindi literature, particularly enjoying the tales of Akbar and Birbal. Chandrika's commitment to enhancing her writing skills is evident through her daily storytelling exercises, which she diligently has reviewed by the teacher. While she occasionally struggles with matras during dictation, she diligently corrects her errors. Notably, she penned a story for the Mother's birthday celebrations.

Odia- Chandrika has improved in Odia, particularly in speaking and understanding. She enjoys reading and writing in Odia, as well as Odia stories and children's movies. Her handwriting is good, especially when she's focused. She pays attention better in environments outside the classroom and enjoys learning new things. She can count clearly up to 20 and likes Odia songs. Although she writes nicely, she faces some difficulty with certain words.

Arts and crafts- Chandrika enjoys engaging in various activities such as crafts and paper folding during art class. She demonstrates skill and creativity in her drawings, producing pleasing results. Throughout art class, Chandrika painted a bicycle, created drawings for sports day and of Saraswati Maa, crafted a butterfly, and illustrated different seasons. She also completes drawings aligned with the assigned projects.

Shramdan- Please refer to the introduction of the group report.

Games- Chandrika is a talented and strong girl who has a tendency to get emotional while playing minor games. She always arrives on time and actively participates in all warm-ups every day. Although she lacks flexibility in yoga, she still attends the class regularly. During the game, she needs to focus more on her passing and catching ball-related activities. Her preferred position while playing football is to be a goalkeeper. On sports day, she participated in the army drill, but during practice, she fell quite often and felt shy. On the final day, she performed excellently in front of the audience.

Puzzles- Prefers doing puzzles alone and finds them easy. Can complete 1000-piece puzzles with friends' assistance. Engages in puzzles to sharpen her mind and attempts to complete more within an hour.

Celebrations- Please refer to the group report.
