Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Maths

Satrupa is a very smart girl, and her understanding of maths is very good. She can do sums all by herself and needs very little help. She stays very focused in class. She catches things very fast and has good concepts. She can do addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. She also knows how to solve the abacus, and lots of questions were given to solve mentally with the help of it to improve mental calculation. In measurement, she knows how to measure in mm, cm, metres, and kilometres. She is able to measure long distances like the length of the maths lab and veranda, but it is surprising to see that she has difficulties in measuring smaller things like a pencil, book, and eraser. She enjoyed doing an activity measuring her height, cubit scale measuring, and hand span measuring. She can convert units and add different units. She is very helpful to her friends and makes them understand the topic. She has finished book 3 and has been given the 4th book.

Projects-

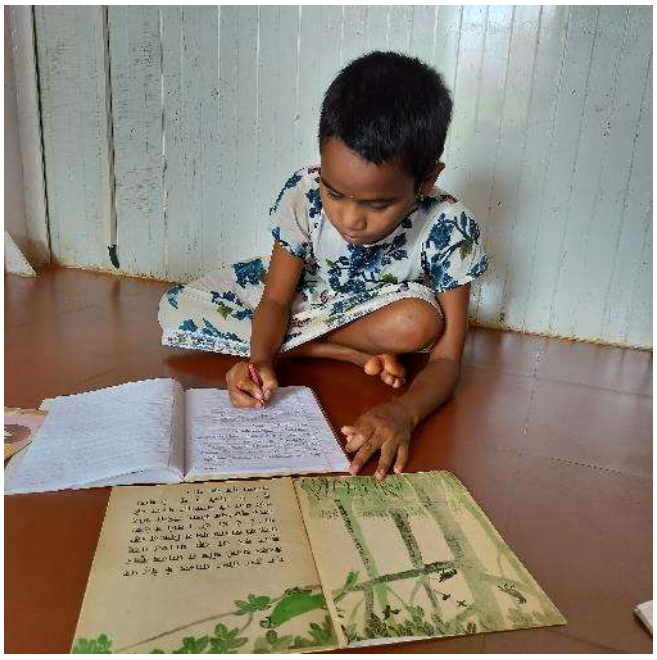
Birds

Satrupa is a bright girl in the group, was captivated by feathery birds, motivating her to choose the bird topic. She eagerly embraced new vocabulary and information presented by the teachers. She particularly enjoyed bird-watching sessions with binoculars, where she observed birds like drongos, cranes, bulbuls, kingfisher, mynahs, and parrots. She independently drew many bird illustrations and wrote about them in the book she created with teacher assistance. During group discussions, she actively shared her knowledge and attentively listened to her peers. She was skilled at answering questions in full sentences and sought clarification when needed, as demonstrated during the documentary session. Her curiosity and willingness to learn shone brightly throughout the bird project.

Occupation

Satrupa had taken the role of a judge because she wants to learn about it. While doing this topic she could understand and got to know many new things about occupation. She could answer some of the questions asked. She had made a very beautiful drawing of a judge.

Hindi



Satrupa stands out as a remarkably intelligent student with a strong enthusiasm for learning. She reads stories fluently and with a clear, resonant voice. Her comprehension skills are commendable, and she particularly enjoys self-reading. However, in weekly group reading sessions, her advanced reading abilities can lead to restlessness, given her quicker pace in contrast to her peers who read more slowly. She has successfully grasped the basics of grammar, including gender (ling), vand vichhed, and numbers (vachan). Her active participation during lessons, along with her keen interest, has accelerated her understanding of these concepts. When faced with questions, she demonstrates the ability to solve them quickly and accurately. Her handwriting is neat and well-formed, with room for further refinement. Some days, during class, her attentiveness wanes, particularly when she's less interested in the subject. Nevertheless, her commitment to learning Havan mantras proved to be unwavering. Although these recitations were initially challenging, she approached the task with enthusiasm and overcame the difficulties with practice. Additionally, she has learnt several new songs and poems, displaying a particular passion for singing.

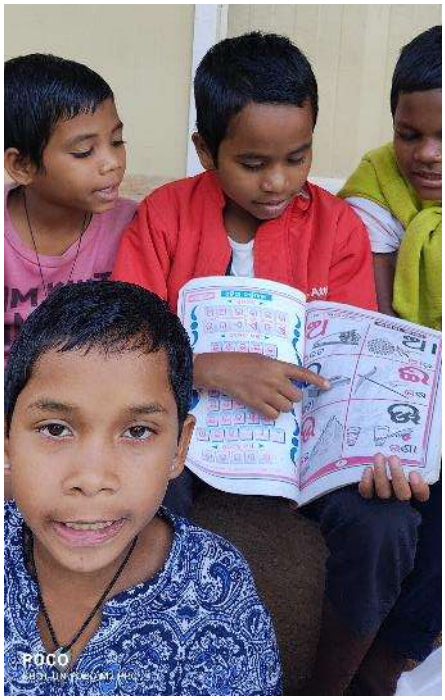
English

Satrupa demonstrates attentiveness and good behaviour during English class. She actively participates in storytelling, self-reading, and group reading. Her pronunciations and reading skills are commendable, but she faces challenges with dictations due to word segmentation issues. Satrupa isn't hesitant to seek help from the teacher when she encounters difficulties.

Satrupa is a highly talented and enthusiastic girl who enjoys participating in various classroom activities. She is good at memorizing poems and dialogue lines for plays. Satrupa likes listening to people speaking English, especially in different dialects. She is also fond of watching English children's movies and participating in short plays with her friends. She quickly remembers the sequences of songs and poems.

Odia



Satrupa takes interest in the class. She is able to understand and speak the language using a few words. She has learnt the alphabets and can recognize them quite confidently. She is very keen to learn the names of the trees, plants and flowers and other objects in Odia and has learnt quite a bit. She loves listening to stories and also singing songs.

Arts and Crafts

Satrupa displays a strong interest in craftwork, with a particular fondness for paper cutting. She is attentive and seeks teacher assistance when required. While her work is mostly well-executed, she encounters difficulties with shading but strives to improve.

Puzzles

During puzzle class, Satrupa relishes the challenge of difficult puzzles. She is willing to tackle 300-piece puzzles on her own. However, when confronted with 500-piece puzzles, she chooses to work with friends, finding it more enjoyable. She approaches puzzle-solving quietly and with great interest.

Games and Sports

Satrupa is very active while she plays base-kickball. Sometimes she is very hesitant to do warm up. She can do more than 20 side-sit-ups. Her body is flexible to do yogasana, such as mountain pose, garuda asana, lotus pose, and split. She needs to improve her stamina and easily gets tired while running three to four rounds. She is in Helium group. She participates in fun games, football and dodgeball.

Trip- For more details, refer to school report.

Celebrations

Satrupa is an enthusiastic girl. She is always curious to perform English, Hindi and Odia dramas. On rath yatra she did a Sambalpuri dance with her groupmates. She likes to stand in the front while she is performing. While she is doing drama her expressions are good. Her voice is also audible.
