Report for 2024-25 (Second term)

INTRODUCTION

Bablu's best friends are Sukanto and Prabhu. He loves being playful and mischievous with his friends. He comes from Narjiput, a village five kilometres away, and belongs to a family of five, including his parents and a younger brother, whom he cares for deeply. Bablu enjoys interacting with his friends at school.

He loves staying in the hostel because he gets tasty food and has the opportunity to learn and study more. However, he also enjoys going home on Tuesday evenings, where he receives love and care. He takes care of himself by washing his own clothes and managing all his tasks independently in the hostel.

Before every meal, he makes sure to wash his hands and plate properly before eating. While eating, he prefers sitting with his friends, chewing his food properly, and enjoying his meal. He loves eating dishes like poha, puri and vegetables, and white flat-rice. His favourite vegetables are bitter gourd, beans, and potatoes.

Early in the morning, after completing his yogasana, he participates in shramdan. He and his friend Sukanto go to the ashram building to clean. They complete their tasks by sweeping the floor and wiping the railings.

ACADEMICS

English

Bablu has good reading skills. He loves to go to the library and read any book he is given of his level. He breaks down words phonetically while reading. Day by day he is showing progress in writing as well. He is comfortable using a 4-lined notebook and his writing is clear and legible. He shows a good understanding of texts when guided. He uses capital and small letters diligently. Now he needs to focus on using apostrophes correctly. He is now working on “Good grammar Book 2” and does the answers with understanding.

Hindi

Bablu concentrates in the class and listens to the teachers carefully. He focuses on his handwriting to improve it. He also likes to listen to stories told by the teachers. He is interested in doing copy writing. In grammar he has done the chapters bhasha and ling. He has understood the chapters but has difficulty in learning the definitions. He has completed doing the question and answers of the Gyan Sarovar book-1. He can do the questions and answers properly in a proper sequence.

Math

Bablu shows interest in maths class and loves doing all the activities done in the class. He has started doing maths from the second book. He loves solving problems from the book and he tries to read and understand all by himself.

He can solve the carryover addition and subtraction of three-digit. When his answers are wrong, he feels a little sad but then he corrects it. When he was learning the time topic, he was finding it a little difficult in understanding the concept but gradually he got clear about it. Now he can differentiate between the hour and minute hand and show the time. He can draw the clock in his notebook and show the time. He is able to speak the name of the days of a week and the year has how many days. He can speak the date and day of the month and can convert the days into week and months into years. In the measurement concept he started measuring with the non-standard units like cubit, handspan, foot span, etc. When he understood how to measure, then he started enjoying measuring the things around him. He measured and wrote the measurement in his notebook. Slowly he was introduced from non-standard to standard units into centimetres. He has patience in solving the questions and takes his own time and solves the questions.

Bablu likes to play snakes and ladders, Othello and tara, but his favourite game is monopoly.

Project

Bablu is an obedient child. He answers all the questions asked during the class. He is excited to learn new topics and is always asking questions about them. He liked the animal's topic the most as he learnt about the different types of animals- wild and domestic. Later he started the living science class 1 book and is doing the questions answers of it.

Animals: This was his favourite topic, as the more he learnt, the more interested he got. He made drawings of the animals and learnt about the wild and domestic animals. He even, learnt about the different organs of animals from which they breathe and how the different animals give birth to babies like some lay eggs and some give birth. He even made the houses of the animals where they lived.

House: This topic made him happy, as he made a house with his own hands. He had made a mud hut and loved it very much. He then made drawings of different types of houses and learnt about the different houses in different places. He even went to the village to see the houses and learnt about the kachcha and pukka houses.

CO-CORICULAR ACTIVITIES

Art and craft

Bablu is developing an interest in art and enjoys trying new creative activities. He has learnt to make stars, owls, honeybee, and warm and cool colour drawings. Although he finds some activities challenging, he puts in an effort to complete them. He enjoyed making leaf-paste birds and flower cutting. Currently he is learning to create animals with clay, which he finds very exciting.

Dance

Bablu is trying to develop an interest in dance and puts in an effort during practise. He has learnt both classical and folk dance and is working on improving his steps. He sometimes finds it challenging but tries to follow the choreography. He has learnt sambalpuri dance to the song gunjru gunja and participated in performances. With regular practise Bablu is improving his movements and coordination. He is gradually becoming more confident in dance and continues to learn with enthusiasm.
