Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Maths

Lipsa is a punctual girl and is very polite to everyone. She actively participates in all the class activities and needs to focus more in class. To understand a question, she needs to read it again and again, but she has a good hold on mental calculations. She has no problem in solving questions of addition, subtraction, and multiplication but gets stuck in word problems of division. Lipsa has learnt different methods of multiplication and division for improvement. She has shown improvement. She had no problem doing the abacus in 2-3 digits but would get stuck in 4 digits. She can convert units (mm, cm, m, and km). She also knows how to measure in cubit, foot, and hand span. She adds two units by carrying and subtracts by borrowing. She had difficulties in the conversion of units but can progress if she remembers the relation between the units. She enjoys the activities done in class and helps the teacher in doing the activities.

Projects-

Birds

Lipsa's curiosity about birds extended to their various habitats. Bird-watching outings allowed her to observe a variety of birds in the village and forest, heightening her interest. She recognized many birds by their calls and excitedly used binoculars for the first time. Bird documentaries further fuelled her curiosity, and she actively engaged in learning about bird food, habitat, body parts, and the four bird types. Although Lipsa occasionally took extra time to respond to questions in class, she demonstrated her commitment by independently drawing and writing about birds for the group's book. Her neat and precise artwork was a testament to her dedication to the topic.

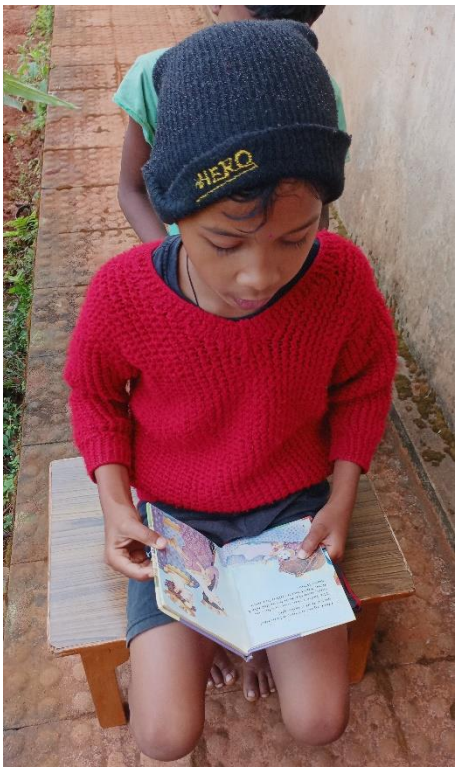
Occupation

Lipsa wants to become a fruit seller because she wants to sell fresh fruits to the people and earn money. She loves to eat fruits because the fruits keep our body healthy and keeps us away from the doctor. She had made a very beautiful drawing of a fruit seller and had coloured it very beautifully. When she was asked any question, then she could answer some of them and could understand what was explained.

Hindi

Lipsa is calm and attentive in class. She reads well, writes neatly, and tells stories confidently. She likes to act out small stories and enjoys dictation and copywriting. She takes time to learn songs and Hawan chants but sings well.



English

Lipsa is a generally well-behaved student. She usually maintains good classroom etiquette, sitting attentively and paying heed to her teacher during English class. However, there are times when she engages in conversations with her friends, which can be a bit distracting. Nevertheless, she actively listens to her teacher's instructions and is not a timid or shy student.

Lipsa possesses decent handwriting skills, but she has room for improvement in her overall writing abilities. In terms of reading, she can manage books at levels three to four, although she occasionally requires assistance while reading. If she encounters a word she is unsure of or cannot pronounce, she is not hesitant to seek assistance from her teacher. Lipsa diligently completes her homework assignments when they are assigned.

Lipsa is very interested in learning songs, poems, and short plays. She enjoys watching English movies like "Mary Poppins," "Dasha Avatar," and "The Sound of Music." While she finds singing every day a bit boring, she suggests adding short plays to the schedule. She particularly enjoyed the play "The Wizard of Oz." In the "Fish Friends Three" play, she memorized the dialogues quickly. Lipsa has learned nearly thirty songs, with her favourite being "Tell Me Why."

Odia

Lipsa has a strong understanding of the language and can speak with correct pronunciation. She is actively interested in class, enjoys listening to stories, and is attentive to their content. She can tell stories in full sentences and sings songs beautifully with a sweet voice and a smile.

Arts and Crafts

Lipsa appreciates her art class for the opportunity to draw animals, nature, and birds. She has crafted bird-themed drawings, explored oil pastel art, and mastered shading. Lipsa's work is meticulous and beautifully coloured, often using crayons. While she enjoys her art, she occasionally engages in lively conversations with her peers.

Puzzles

Lipsa enjoys both games and puzzles in her puzzle class. While she prefers to work with friends, she may attempt to solve puzzles alone at times. She particularly enjoys easier puzzles and has a preference for those. She occasionally encounters distractions from others in the class.

Trip- For more details, refer to school report.

Games and Sports

Lipsa is in the carbon group for games. She loves to play ball related games such as football, dodgeball and base-kickball and also other fun games. She needs to build up stamina by running and exercises.
