Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Introduction

Shanti is a quiet and regular student at school. She joined the school later than her peers but has been making progress. When she arrives at school, she follows her daily hygiene routine, brushing her teeth, taking a bath, and changing her clothes. She has learned how to use the toilet, but she still requires assistance and supervision, as she has difficulty sitting properly on the toilet.Shanti has a good appetite and enjoys eating all the vegetables and finishing her meals.

Circle Time

During circle time, Shanti tends to sit quietly and observe her friends. Initially, she did not actively engage or interact with her peers during this time. While her classmates sing songs with actions, she used to remain standing quietly. However, she has started to participate in actions with her friends recently.

Languages

In storytelling sessions, Shanti shows an interest in colourful pictures in books. She faces some difficulty in understanding the stories, and when she speaks, she often uses her village language. Nonetheless, she has learned to introduce herself in full sentences in both Hindi and English.

When asked questions, she tends to nod her head in response and may struggle to find the right words to answer.

Mathematics

Shanti can recognize the colours pink, blue, black, and orange by observing flowers and birds in the garden. She is also familiar with counting from 1 to 10 in Odia and can count from 1 to 5 in English by touching objects, showing her counting skills.

Skill work

She enjoys drawing in art class and often creates images like clouds, rain, and stars. She colours her drawings with precision and takes care not to dirty the paper. In paper folding, she makes boats but occasionally requires teacher help. Despite working slowly, she strives to do her best.

Celebrations

Despite her initial hesitation and shyness, Shanti has participated in all school programs, although she has primarily stood on the stage. Her participation and engagement may continue to improve with time and support.

Games

Shanti is a good and quiet girl who enjoys games and plays them nicely. She has good speed and stamina but needs improvement in high jump, long jump, and some exercises. Her favourite minor games are "fire on the mountain" and "ice and water."
