Report-2023-24 (first term)

Introduction:

I am now twenty-one years old, and on December twenty-eighth, I will be turning twenty-two. I have three younger sisters; two of them are studying at Auro-Mira Vidya Mandir, while the eldest among them (and the one just younger than me) studied in the same school until twelfth grade but has since left her studies to help our parents at home. Both my father and mother are farmers, making us a very small family (by village standards) with six members.

Academics:

During these months, I have been studying three papers for my final year of graduation. The overall marks I obtained for the following subjects were:

- BPCG 171 General psychology – 60.80
- BHIE 142 History of modern East Asia: Japan (c.1868-1945) – 68.40
- BHIE 145 Some aspects of European history 1789-1945 – 57.50

I studied BPCG 171 with Professor Chandel, who is a professor of psychology. I enjoyed his class, even though he took it slow to explain the details since I had not studied any science before. I had three classmates— Chandrama, Kokila, and Darshana. Pranjal bhaiya also took our class, and despite being fast due to upcoming exams, he made the subject more interesting with additional examples.

For BHIE 142, I studied with Pranjal bhaiya, who made the subject engaging by telling stories and showing related movies. Although I rarely did my question and answers from the book, I preferred his in-person classes over online ones.

BHIE 145 was with Rachna di, and I occasionally studied with Pranjal bhaiya as the course was not finishing. I consistently did my homework and question answers with Rachna di, although I missed some classes due to programmes and celebrations in school and also because of our trips.

Celebrations:

Before August 15th, I participated in competitions, helping children practise painting. On August 15th, I played a role in a play about the freedom movement, enjoying the experience with guidance from Pranjal bhaiya.

On August 30th, I tied rakhi with all the children and didis and bhaiys in the school, making our own rakhis using thread instead of buying them.

On September 6th, I participated in a dance on Krishna lila, enjoying the role of Krishna. It was my first time as Krishna, and I loved dressing up for the occasion.

Sports:

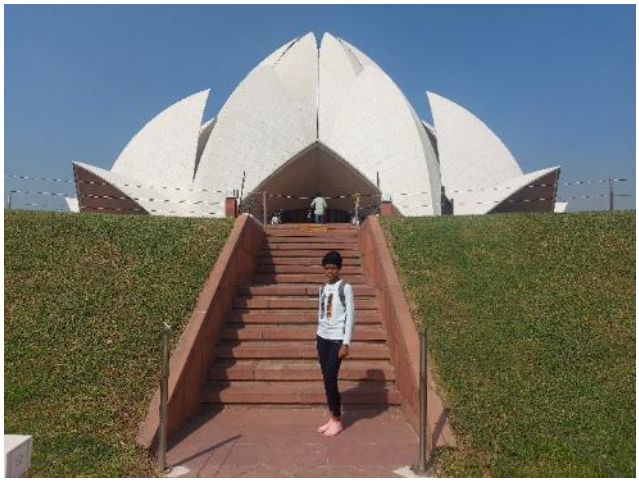
I play only basketball and struggle with shooting. During the rainy season, I rarely played, avoiding monsoons.

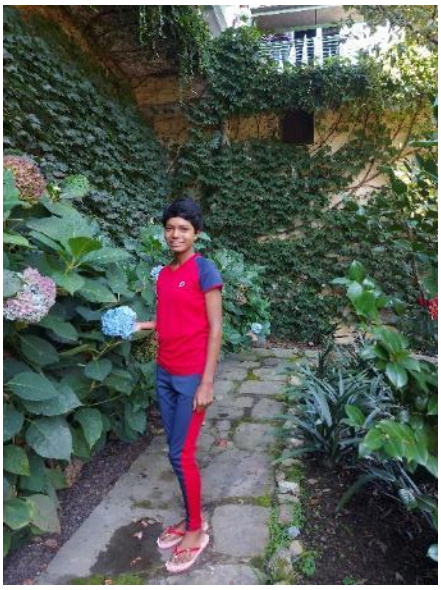
Shramdaan:

I focus on shramdaan in the girls' hostel and only go to the kitchen on Sundays to cut vegetables with Kamli and Bikanti when there's no shramdaan for the children.

Trip:

From September 15th to 25th, I was on a school trip, starting with Delhi, then Haridwar, Rishikesh, and then Nainital. We engaged in various activities like rappelling, river crossing, scrambling, bouldering, meditation, and theatre. The weather in Nainital was cold, prompting us to shift to Madhuban in Ramgarh, where I learnt to weave a bamboo basket and enjoyed the serene environment.





After returning to Delhi, I visited Lotus Temple, Humayun's Tomb, The Science Museum, Seven wonders, and many other museums in Delhi. I also went to Agra to visit the Taj Mahal before returning to Kechla by train.
