Introduction

Hello, I'm Bhakti Muduli, a student at Auro-Mira Vidya Mandir. I recently completed my 10th-grade examinations and have now embarked on my 12th-grade journey. Here are my 10th-grade results:

- Science: 83
- Social Science: 64
- Hindi: 60
- English: 65
- Math: 62

In my free time, I enjoy delving into issue books, and for my 12th grade, I've opted for subjects like physical education, English, history, painting, and home science. I'm actively engaged in online classes and diligently conduct self-study during my spare moments, ensuring that I grasp my coursework effectively. I also assist in looking after the children at home, contributing an hour of volunteer work in the evenings. In this role, I teach songs, rhymes, and occasionally share stories, fostering a love for learning in the children. I derive immense satisfaction from these teaching experiences.

Shramdaan (Work Offering)

Early mornings for me commence with yoga at 6:00 AM, a practice that rejuvenates my spirit. Following my yoga session, I actively participate in various forms of community service known as shramdan. My contributions span gardening, hostel cleaning, toilet cleaning, tending to girls' hostels, school cleaning, and kitchen-related tasks. I take great pleasure in this shramdan work, and the sense of fulfilment I derive from these activities is immeasurable.

Games

My day's activities often include games, which commence with a meditation session, setting a tranquil and focused tone. We then engage in various physical activities, including running and exercises, before embarking on sports and games. Our selection of games encompasses football, volleyball, basketball, and a host of other minor games. Among these, basketball holds a special place in my heart. I particularly enjoy practising and improving my shooting skills, always seeking to enhance my performance.

Celebrations

I'm an active participant in various school programs and celebrations. These events offer an excellent platform to learn new things and showcase the talents and creativity of students. I find the experiences and interactions during these celebrations enriching and enjoyable.
