Report for 2023-24 (First Term)

Introduction

Bhavani Majhi, a cheerful child in the Bliss group, resides in the school hostel and is regular in her school attendance. She can manage her daily routines, including cleaning her clothes and organizing her belongings. Bhavani has a hearty appetite and enjoys a variety of foods, with egg curry being a favourite. She eats well, although she tends to take her time with meals.

Circle Time

During circle time, Bhavani sits with her eyes open and participates in chanting. She remembers all the chants taught in the group but chants in a soft voice. She enjoys songs, with her favourites being "Ek Dadi Ne Boya Beej" and "Mene Chuha Pakadliya." She especially likes songs and rhymes with actions in the group, although she feels shy about performing in the assembly. Pronunciation can be a challenge for her.

Languages

Hindi

In Hindi, Bhavani enjoys listening to stories from picture books. She comprehends the full story and can answer questions related to it. She prefers animal stories and can retell a story in a few lines. When creating a creative story, she often focuses on her daily routine. Drama is something she enjoys after listening to a story.

Myself topic

In the "Myself" topic, Bhavani has learned how to introduce herself in Hindi, including her likes and why she comes to school. She has also created her own book about "myself." In the "Body Parts" topic, she made paintings and drawings of her external body parts, learned the names of these body parts in Hindi, and explained their functions. She participated in creating a creative song about body parts in group activities, which they performed during a school birthday celebration.

English

Bhavani likes making friends and enjoys having conversations with them. She needs to improve a lot in understanding and speaking English in full sentences. She can speak some small words in English. She enjoys singing rhymes with her friends with action. She is interested in listening to stories through puppets and by looking at the picture books. After listening to stories she draws the pictures and narrates the same story which is drawn on her paper.

In the topic on 'My Body', she learnt the names of the external body parts. She learnt rhymes of my body. She learnt the names through chart paper. She can show the parts of her body.

In the topic of myself, she learnt how to speak her name in full sentence, her favourite colour and fruits, her group's name and school's name, and her age. She made a book out of all these topics and then spoke on what she had made.

In the topic of my family, she learnt the names of her parents, their occupations, and how many members are there in her family. She learnt a rhyme of my family. She can tell her parents' full names.

Mathematics

In math, Bhavani engages in math activities using different objects. She has learned colour names by creating patterns in rangometri and observing colours in nature. She has also grasped pre-number concepts related to weight, size, distance, and comparison by playing with the judo cube and collecting leaves, sticks, and stones. Her counting skills start with objects, and she can count up to 10 by touching the objects. She can show numbers up to 10 and count in one direction up to 20. However, she sometimes gets confused if she needs to count in the middle of the numbers.

Skill work

Bhavani has a keen interest in all art class activities and completes them with enthusiasm. She draws flowers and trees, enjoying the process of colouring them. She excels in paper folding, often making houses, and keeps the papers neat. Her favourite colours are yellow and blue.

Celebrations

Bhavani enjoys participating in skill work and celebrations, particularly dramas. When choosing costumes for functions, she often opts for nice, frilly frocks. On the stage, she tends to be shy, looking around at the decorations. Notable performances include participation in a drama created by the group on July 5th, a dance to "Sri Aurobindo Name Anando" on August 15th, making rakhi with thread and beads on August 30th, a dance performance on Janmashtami to "Adharm Madhuram" with her friends on September 7th, and a dance to "My Friend Ganesha" on September 19th for Ganesh Puja.

Games

Bhawani is a good girl who occasionally comes to school late but enthusiastically participates in exercises and running.

Her favourite games are "hide and seek," "back-to-back," "leader-leader change the action," and "ring-a-ring-o'-roses."
