

Faith Group Report 2011-2012

General progress:

Comprising the older children, they are mostly quiet and well behaved when it comes to studying. They are also quite punctual.

The children's understanding of Odiya – reading and writing – is more than satisfactory. In fact most of what they have learnt over the year has been through translation into Odiya.

However English and, to some extent, Hindi have been left behind.

While a few have a very good understanding of English and Hindi, a lot more work is needed to bring all ten children to the same level. Progress in mathematics is about the same.

As they are keen on listening to stories and learning new things, special focus has been given on developing their general knowledge and current events, such as the President and Prime Minister of the country etc.

They are an honest bunch and rarely complain about working hard, be it cleaning toilets or cooking dinner.
