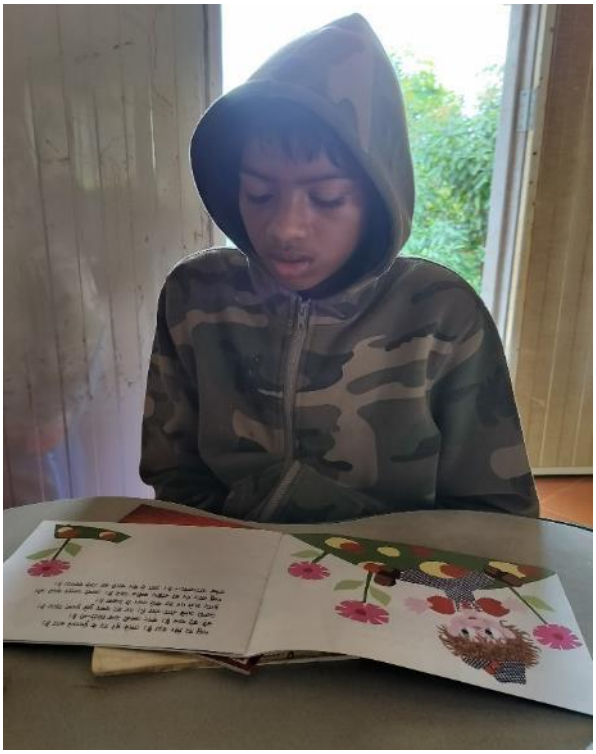
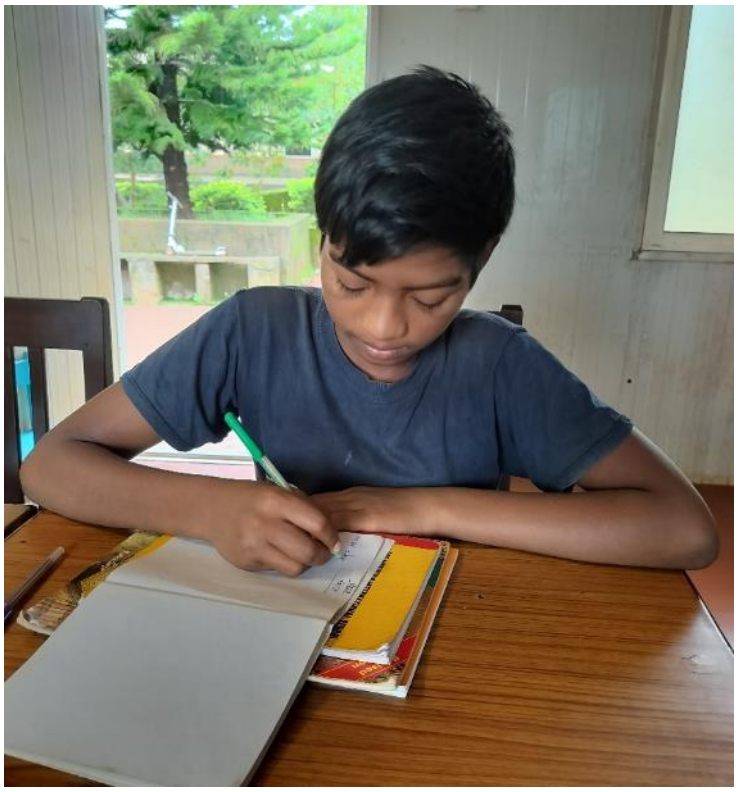
ENGLISH

I enjoy my English class. It lasts for one hour, and Sangita didi, Bina didi, Kamli didi, and Bikanti didi are my teachers in English. However, I sometimes come late to class because I'm playing. In English class, we engage in various activities such as group reading, free reading, book work, grammar, and we watch movies on Sundays. We've watched many movies.

In group reading, we've read several books including "BFG," "The Witch," "Black Beauty," "The Magic Finger," "Charlie and the Chocolate Factory," "Mr. Fox," and now we are reading "George's Marvellous Medicine." Sometimes didi gives us dictation, and I make many mistakes in dictation. When didi explains grammar concepts, I sometimes feel sleepy.





During free reading, I've read many stories, and it has improved my sentence comprehension. In book work, I can easily understand the stories, and I enjoy reading. In grammar class, I have learned about various types of nouns such as adjectives nouns, collective nouns, material nouns, pronouns, and compound nouns. I can understand grammar, but when I'm not interested, I don't concentrate in class. I'm currently studying the 5th class grammar book.

During our movie time, we've watched many movies, and I'm currently watching "God Must Be Crazy." We also do poems in class, and I've learned a poem titled "In the Blue of the Sky."

HINDI

In Hindi class he likes to read Hindi story books. Also he likes to do the gunjan book and the Grammar book. He loves doing the gunjan book because there are many short stories in them and he feels easy to solve the questions. He likes to solve the questions from the books and if he has problem in solving then he comes to ask. He gets his notebook checked every day but needs to focus in his handwriting. Rarely does it happen that he doesn't come to get his notebook checked. Sometimes he doesn't do his homework and does it during the class. He reads slowly and reads most of the words wrong while doing the group reading but still he breaks the words and tries his best to read. He loves doing the free reading because in that day he reads baby moral stories and also Amar Chitra Katha which he loves the most to read. He did a play Andher Nagri in Hindi for 15th july in which he was given the role of Kallu Baniya. He loved his role and did his role very nicely with action. He took help of teachers and Pranjal Bhaiya for his action and performed great. He had to practise his role many a time to get it perfect and he remembered his dialogues very quickly. He learnt a song for Rakshabandhan Dhaagon ka ye rishta. He liked singing the song on the stage because all his friends were singing with him. He had also made a poem on Rakshabandhan by himself. He created the poem very nicely and performed it on the stage. He was very joyful while reciting the poem on the stage. He also did the army drill on the son Sandese aate hain. He performed on the stage with confidence.

MATHS

Rajesh has finished the class 4th book and is currently studying the 5th-grade mathematics book. He has spent substantial time on the topic of time, learning how to determine start and end dates and times. Among the four mathematical operations, Rajesh encounters difficulties primarily in multiplication and division word problems. He is actively working on improving his skills in this area. While he can manage larger number multiplication, he needs to enhance his handwriting. Rajesh displays a proactive approach to correct calculation errors on his own.

SCIENCE

Rajesh is a very silent and shy boy. He is always easily distracted in class. He enjoys doing science and completes all the homework given to him. He always tries to answer the questions asked, even if he doesn't know the answer. He likes doing experiments, such as looking at stomata under a microscope and distinguishing different types of roots gathered from different places. His favourite chapter is "Solid, Liquid, and Gas" because it provides many practical examples. Whenever he is unable to understand in class discussions, he prefers to clarify with his friends. If he still does not understand, then he seeks help from the teacher. Most of the time, he pays attention in class, but when it comes to writing, he gets easily distracted. When someone explains the questions to him, he can answer them, but otherwise, when he's doing his question answers, he often makes mistakes. He speaks very little in class, and when a question is asked personally, that's when he answers. He needs to work hard and gain self-confidence to improve himself.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Rajesh is very shy in nature and thus hesitates to give his opinion or suggestion related to the topic, he needs to get involved in the group as well as during the other activities that are done by the group. He rarely involves himself in the group discussion, but when questions related to the topic are asked to him, he puts effort to answer it. He can do with some more attention span, and also some confidence in himself. He needs to improve upon his fine motor skill and also his spellings.

ODIA

Rajesh remains focused in class but occasionally requires reminders to stay on task. He speaks Odia well but may not be as expressive. He has made some progress in reading and needs to enhance his writing skills.

COMPUTER

ARTS

Rajesh, under the guidance of Shamika didi, enjoys drawing and paper folding in the art class. He has also created a notebook and practices his drawing skills regularly. His hands have become skilled and swift due to his continuous practice. While he is attentive, he can occasionally get distracted and engage in conversations during the class.

DANCE

I have a fondness for my dance class. We've covered various aspects of dance, with a significant focus on learning mudras. Each dance class lasts for an hour, and I attend it with Brishti didi, Suparna didi and Gauri didi.

Sometimes, when we practice Bharatanatyam, I admit I can feel a bit lazy, and it becomes a challenge to muster the motivation to dance. To combat this, our didis lead us in exercises at the start of each class to get us energized.

What I enjoy most in dance class is listening to the music. It's the rhythm and melodies that really capture my interest. Our dance sessions occur on Tuesdays, and I spend one hour in the morning from 9:30 to 10:30 immersed in the world of dance.

Currently, we're working on a dance set to Ganesh music. We have the guidance of Bikanti didi and Gauri didi in this endeavour. Interestingly, on Tuesdays, I find myself quite intrigued and motivated to participate in the dance class, especially when we're working on something as interesting as the Ganesh music dance.

MUSIC

Rajesh, a recent member of the tabla class, has a deep interest in playing tabla. He enjoys his tabla classes and has successfully learnt how to play teental. He is proficient in reciting all the taals of teental accurately, showcasing his dedication to tabla.

GAMES

Rajesh enjoys playing football the most, as it is his favourite game. He has improved his dribbling skills and can score goals with ease. He also participates in other games like dodgeball, base kickball, and other minor games. Rajesh performs warm-up exercises to stay fit for playing and also does running.

SHRAMDAAN

Rajesh prefers working in the garden in front of the girls' hostel. He values the presence of flowers and fruit trees and takes responsibility for maintaining the garden. He uses a hoe to remove grass and aspires to learn to use the machines used by the workers to cut grass and plough the field.

CELEBRATIONS

20th June Rath Yatra

It was really a fascinating sight to see all the children and the teachers dancing together to the band played by the villagers. Many villagers had also come to participate in our celebrations. I was sitting near the idol of Lord Jagannath and was enjoying the smell of the incense stick. The view was really amazing.

5th July School's birthday

On this day I participated in the play named 'Andher Nagari' where I had taken the role of Kalu Baniya. I had also taken the role of the narrator. I was confident in doing my part in the play as I had practised a lot before going on the stage. We also performed another play named Maniko Gauni on this day. I had taken the role of a king's soldier, and this play was taught to us by Papa Ji and Monalisa didi.

15th August Independence Day

For this special day I had participated in the drama of the freedom struggle as an Indian soldier. I had memorized my dialogues and played my role really well.

30th August Raksha Bandhan

I tied Rakhi to Harshit, and he too did the same by watching me. We then watched the others tie Rakhi to each other, and later on our sisters came and tied more Rakhis on our wrists.

7th September Janmashtami

On this day, we sang a song taught to us by Neela didi and Jayu didi, the name of the song is ‘Tum Prem Ho, Tum Preet Ho’. I learnt the song really quickly and sang it melodiously while on the stage.

19th September Ganesh Chaturthi

On this day, I and my friends cracked jokes related to Lord Ganesha, and made the audience laugh out loud. I could see that they were enjoying themselves listening to our jokes.
