Maths

Ranjeet is a very calm and polite child. He is not regular in coming to school as he is often unwell, but catches up with things quite fast. He knows addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division but lacks some concepts in maths. So, in order to increase his understanding of concepts, different things were done in abacus.

Two different methods were taught in division and multiplication. He was able to do the measurement of his height, length of the classroom, and things given by teachers. He was finding it difficult to measure longer distances (length of the veranda of the maths lab). He is confused about when to take half.

Projects

Ranjeet is not regular to the school because he has some medical problem, but he tries his best to listen and remember to what the teachers are saying. While he was sometimes slower in providing responses, he actively attempted to answer questions in class. In the class he has learnt about the 4 types of birds, but he is little confused that which bird will come under which categories. When she had gone for a walk in the forest and village then she saw many types of birds like kingfisher, drongo, crane, mynah, bulbul, etc. with the help of the binocular.

Hindi

Ranjeet is passionate about reading storybooks but still needs to enhance his reading skills. He has finished writing the alphabets and has recently started writing stories. While he works hard on story writing, he faces difficulties with sentence structure. Ranjeet excels in dictation. He sometimes struggles with grammar and misses classes, but he consistently has his notebook checked. He has learnt a few Havan chants.

English

Ranjeet is a diligent and intelligent student who consistently displays good concentration during class. He is not the type to be bashful, readily responding to questions without any hesitation. His reading abilities are commendable, as he can comfortably handle storybooks at levels three to four independently.

However, Ranjeet occasionally encounters words that he finds challenging to pronounce. In such instances, he does not hesitate to request assistance from the teacher. His spelling skills are adequate but could benefit from some improvements. When assigned homework, Ranjeet diligently completes the tasks and brings his notebook to class for review by the teacher.

While his handwriting is satisfactory, there is room for improvement. Ranjeet has taken the initiative to enhance his handwriting skills by writing English sentences on a daily basis. He routinely presents his notebook to the teacher for assessment and feedback.
